When was the most recent streak in the NBA remotely resembling the one this team is on? Obviously, there have been many 10-match winning streaks... 12 +1 ... 16+2... 16+3... 20+.... But it's still not the same. I may not remember exactly that, but I definitely remember that it wasn't. And now there is! This season, two clubs in the NBA had a 100-point streak at once. In the first quarter of that game, the Warriors were ahead by 13 points and the Pacers were ahead by 13 points. And that ratio didn't change over the course of the game. That was luck, of course, but not the only factor that helped the Warriors win. They had a lot of desire on their side as well. Golden State had never won a game this season.
